

Eternity comes to park

The national touring group attraction to be featured in Arts in the Park this week is the gospel group, Eternity, which will be performing on Friday evening.

The group has recently changed both its home base and its management and has emerged as an entertaining group of Christian singers.

In addition to touring this country, Eternity recently returned from a mission trip to Honduras. In ten days they performed to over 52,000 people and the group made a point of learning enough Spanish in order to perform the songs in the native language of the country.

As a measure of the group's success, 15,000 people turned out to hear Eternity in Central Park in Tegucigalpa and now on Friday evening at 8, Eternity will perform in City Park, Manhattan.
