

Music of quality

By IFAN PAYNE
Music Critic

The menu of musical events in Manhattan for this week can hardly be called a long one, but doubtless the quality will make up for the lack of quantity.

The Feld Ballet will perform in McCain Auditorium on Wednesday and Thursday evenings at 8 p.m.

Also on Thursday evening at 8 p.m. in All Faiths Auditorium the KSU glee clubs will be presenting a program directed by Gerald Polich. The program will include performances, by the women, of Four Russian Peasant Songs by Stravinski, two movements from the lovely Ceremony of Carols by Benjamin Briten and Psallite by the German, Praetorius.

The men take over with Viadani's Exultate, Dvorak's Maiden in the Wood and finish off with Tomorrow, The Water is Wide, Those Magnificent Men in Their Flying Machines and a whole bunch of Big 8 fight songs.

Admission is free.

Sunday, October 31, 1982 The Manhattan Mercury E7